FROM THE COMMITTEE CO-CHAIRS

Fellow Conference Attendees:

Welcome to Tucson, Arizona! We are proud to represent Pima Community College as your host sponsor and to serve as your Annual Conference Co-Chairs. We are ecstatic about hosting you at our Aviation Technology Center that includes our new hangar that was completed in September of 2022.

This year's program is packed full of exciting content, provided by your peers, all committed to closing workforce gaps, increasing diversity and equity in the aviation industry, and ensuring safe air travel for years to come. We hope you are able to take some time to enjoy the sights and food Tucson has to offer while you're here.

A special thanks goes out to our sponsors; in particular Bombardier, for serving as this year's main sponsor and tour host. On a personal note, we would like to extend our deepest gratitude to the Pima Community College team and many local partners for their support and assistance with planning. Also, a special thank you to Crystal and Tarra for making this as painless as possible, you two are the best!

We hope you enjoy the conference and your time in the Sonoran Desert!

FAA Designated Mechanic Examiner Recurrent Seminar — PCCAC, Hangar 2, Room 203

Required recurrent training for designated mechanic examiners, presented by the FAA. Advanced and separate registration is required

ADMINISTRATION TRACK

1. The Fallout: How Legislative Initiatives Drive Action

Congress is considering a multi-year reauthorization bill to fund the FAA for the next five years. This landmark legislation addresses every one of ATEC's legislative priorities, including expanding the workforce development grant, improving the airman certification standard system, and creating dedicated pathways for exiting military personnel. Gain insights into ATEC's pivotal role in influencing these changes and how to leverage council resources to engage your legislative leaders.

Chase Beasley, Workforce Relations, American Airlines

Jared Britt, Director of AMT Training, Southern Utah University

Rob Cush, Legislative Affairs Director, Aircraft Mechanics Fraternal Association

2. A Blueprint for Success: Increasing A&P Graduate FAA Mechanic Certification Rates

Nationally, only sixty percent of students obtain an FAA mechanic certificate. Dive into an insightful panel discussion examining the challenges hindering graduates from obtaining certification, exploring success stories, and sharing practical strategies to elevate testing rates.

Michael Basara, Campus Director, Pittsburgh Institute of Aeronautics – Myrtle Beach

Steven Brinly, Associate Dean, School of Aeronautics, Liberty University

Darrell Irby, Program Coordinator, Tarrant County College

3. Bridging the Gap: PSA Airlines' Blueprint for A&P Training Excellence

In an ever-evolving aviation industry, the need for highly skilled aviation technicians is more critical than ever. Explore an innovative strategy designed to fill skill gaps with success stories. The session will delve into the significance of collaboration with A&P schools, adaptability, technology integration, soft skills, and ongoing education.

James Ellis, Assistant Director of Maintenance Training, PSA Airlines

4. Launching Your A&P School: Navigating Costs, Equipment, Funding, and Regulations

Embark on the journey of establishing a certificated aviation program with insights from seasoned experts. Explore the costs, necessary equipment, available funding opportunities, and regulatory requirements as our panel shares experience gained from years of launching part 147 programs.

Jared Britt, Director of AMT Training, Southern Utah University

Sean Gallagan, Chief Executive Officer, Aviation Workforce Solutions

Jeffrey Gaskill, National Education Manager, Snap-on Tools

David Jones, Senior Writer/Editor, AVOTEK

INSTRUCTION TRACK

5. Introducing ATEC Academy: Empowering Excellence in Aviation Education

As the shortage of teachers and technicians continues to grow, so too will the number of individuals moving from industry to the classroom with limited teaching experience. Hear about a pioneering program crafted to tackle these issues, offering a personalized approach to aid recently appointed A&P instructors in navigating the intricacies of teaching.

Kelly Filgo, Director of Operations, Choose Aerospace

Sean J Glassberg, Owner, Faculty Development Facilitator, Educator Training and Consulting

6. Elevate A&P Coursework with Electric Engine Standards

Learn how to integrate ASTM modules into aviation maintenance classes, leveraging insights from work funded by the National Institute of Standards and Technology. Participate in focused discussions on student outcomes, videos, and assessments, addressing technical language, electric propulsion design, installation airworthiness, and hazard mitigation.

Mary E. Johnson, Professor, Associate Head for Graduate Education and Research, Purdue University

Tracy L. Yother, Assistant Professor, Aeronautical Engineering Technology, Purdue University

7. Product Showcase: Interactive eBooks for A&P Programs

Ekanos is an interactive eBook solution that makes aviation technician education easy and effective. The content aligns with FAA mechanic airman certification standards and allows students to see theory concepts in action through animation and virtual practices. Panelists will demo the tool and highlight recent updates and deployments at other A&P programs.

Natalie LaFlam, Marketing & Account Coordinator, ARCS Aviation

8. Stackable Credentials: Using Industry Certifications in an ACS-Based Curriculum

Dive into a comprehensive exploration of aviation-related certifications offered by NC3, DMC, Snap-on, and other industry leaders. Discover the seamless alignment of these credentials with FAA mechanic airman certification standards and gain insights into leveraging training aids and curriculum to enhance both student learning and program success.

Cody Eckert, Program Manager, NC3

John Gamble, Education Partnerships Manager, Snap-on Tools

Ryan Ploeger, Regional Sales Manager, AutoCrib

Bill Randall, Strategic Accounts Manager, Daniels Manufacturing Corporation

REGULATION TRACK

9. The New Part 147: A Comprehensive Update from FAA Safety Standards

The new part 147 has been in effect for over a year. Delve into the evolving landscape as regulators and certificate holders adapt, uncovering challenges and areas for improvement. Engage with agency leadership and get valuable insights into surveillance feedback, new inspector guidance and training, and forthcoming plans for performance reporting.

Kevin Morgan, Airmen Section Manager, Aircraft Maintenance Division, FAA

10. FAA Testing: A Comprehensive Look at the Certification System

Hear from FAA officials about organizational and policy changes impacting the designee and airman certification system. Get an overview of recent updates stemming from the new mechanic airman certification standards, revised guidance directed at designated mechanic examiners, and a preview of what's in store.

Troy Fields, Aviation Safety Inspector, Testing Standards Section, FAA (virtual)

Trey McClure, Delegation Group Manager, FAA

11. Correlating Testing and Training: The Pursuit of a Common Goal

Join us to analyze FAA mechanic test pass rate data, assess potential reasons for the downward trend, and identify potential solutions for improving outcomes.

Troy Fields, Aviation Safety Inspector, Testing Standards Section, FAA (virtual)

Mark Holloway, Executive Director of Aviation Maintenance, Aviation Institute of Maintenance

Kevin Morgan, Airmen Section Manager, Aircraft Maintenance Division, FAA

Jackie Spanitz, General Manager, Aviation Supplies & Academics, Inc.

12. Workshop: Provide Your Input on the Next Revision to the Mechanic Airman Certification Standards

Join us for an interactive workshop focused on revising the Mechanic Airman Certification Standards, the backbone of our certification system. Hear about a grant-funded initiative to support this important work and bring your specific suggestions to enhance the standards and actively contribute to the council's formal recommendations for impactful change.

Facilitators:

Karen Johnson, Associate Professor, Southern Illinois University Carbondale

Kapil Madathil, Professor, Departments of Industrial and Civil Engineering, Clemson University

Zackary Nicklin, UAS Program Manager, Northland Community and Technical College

Jackie Spanitz, General Manager, Aviation Supplies & Academics, Inc.

13. Tangible Programs Making Significant Strides Toward Growth and Diversity Goals

Explore a groundbreaking partnership dedicated to providing students the skills and resources to rise to the occasion. Learn about Job Corp, the largest free residential education and job training program for young adults, and its partnership with an A&P program to connect its students to aviation careers.

Ramon Serrato, Chief Executive Officer, Serrato Corporation

Scott Sykes, Chief Development Officer, U.S. Aviation Academy

14. Elevating High School Aviation Education

Discover the powerful collaboration between Choose Aerospace and the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association Foundation, as the two organizations join forces to enhance aviation education and workforce development initiatives. Gain insights into effectively utilizing these resources to establish impactful pipelines within local school districts.

Kelly Filgo, Director of Operations, Choose Aerospace

Tonja Norwood, STEM Division Manager, Oklahoma CareerTech

Glenn Ponas, Director of High School Outreach, Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association

15. Understanding the JSAMTCC Pathway to Mechanic Certification

Explore the Joint Service Aviation Maintenance Technician Certification Council (JSAMTCC), a Department of Defense and United States Coast Guard program providing military aviation technicians a streamlined path to FAA mechanic certification. Hear about JSAMTCC initiatives, including the establishment of a working group dedicated to developing testing prep courses for aspiring aviation professionals.

Ray Brown, Airframe and Powerplant Program Manager, United States Marine Corps

Steven Burge, Aviation Credentialing Manager, United States Army

Arthur E. Rousseau, Credentialing Programs Director, Community College of the Air Force

Chase Winningham, Joint Service Program Director, Community College of the Air Force

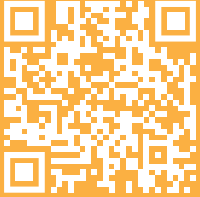

16. Leveraging SkillBridge to Create Military Transition Pathways

Explore the Department of Defense's SkillBridge program, designed to connect transitioning service members with real-world job experiences in the final 180 days of service. Discover how aviation companies and educational institutions integrate this program into their training ecosystems and explore the array of benefits available to employers, educators, and transitioning service members.

AOPA FOUNDATION
HIGH SCHOOLS

Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association

<https://youcanfly.aopa.org/high-school>

The AOPA Foundation's High School initiative was designed to rebuild the pilot population and the aviation industry from the ground up. By providing high-quality STEM-based aviation education to high school students nationwide, AOPA is opening the door to aviation careers for thousands of teens. The courses are designed to capture the imagination and give students from diverse backgrounds the tools to pursue advanced education and careers in aviation fields.

Working with professional instructional designers, The AOPA Foundation is offering a four-year high school aviation STEM program that falls along two tracks—pilot and unmanned aircraft systems or drones. The program conforms to math and science standards and, in keeping with career and technical education best practices, will lead to a certification or industry-accepted test, such as the FAA Private Pilot knowledge test or a Part 107 drone pilot certification.
