

WHY ATTEND THE ATEC ANNUAL CONFERENCE?

Where aviation maintenance education and industry align to strengthen the workforce pipeline.

The ATEC Annual Conference brings together educators, industry leaders, and workforce partners to address the issues shaping the future of aviation maintenance. Sessions focus on workforce development, FAA updates, emerging technologies, and industry collaboration.

At a Glance

- Nearly 300 attendees from education, industry, and government
- 60+ speakers from FAA, NASA, industry, and education
- 30+ exhibitors showcasing workforce, training, and technology solutions
- National representation from schools, airlines, OEMs, MROs, and workforce organizations

Who Should Attend

Educators (Part 147 Schools, High Schools, Colleges)

Practical insights and connection to strengthen programs and support student success.

- FAA updates and regulatory insights
- Industry-informed curriculum strategies
- Student success and workforce readiness
- Employer and training partner connections
- Perkins-eligible professional development opportunities

Workforce & Policy Partners (Associations, Government, Nonprofits)

Collaborate across education, industry, and government to strengthen workforce initiatives.

- Engage with education and industry leaders
- Contribute to workforce development discussions
- Stay informed on regulatory and program updates
- Support initiatives that strengthen the technician pipeline

Industry (Airlines, Repair Stations, OEMs, Labor Organizations)

Connect with education partners and help shape the future workforce.

- Connect with training programs and emerging talent
- Help shape the future workforce
- Gain insight into education and workforce trends
- Build partnerships with schools and training providers

Why It Matters

As demand for aviation maintenance technicians grows, collaboration between education and industry is more important than ever. ATEC brings those stakeholders together to strengthen the workforce pipeline.

Learn More About the Event Including Sponsorship & Exhibitor Opportunities

